that opposes an authentic hadeeth and has in its chain of transmission, a weak narrator)
(Collected by Al Uqaili in Ad Dhuâ∏ afaah 4/90 and declared â∏ Munkar By Shaikh Al Albaani in Ad Dhaâ∏ eefah (6225) he also mentioned it in number 1202 and declared it â ∏ Fabricatedâ∏)
$24.~\hat{a} \coprod$ The Messenger of Allah did not used to raise his hands until he finished from Salaah (i.e. other than the initial Takbeer)
Ruling: Dhaâ  eef (Weak)
(Collected by At Tabaraani in â∏ Muâ∏ jamul Kabeer 3/211/1 who mentions his chain going back to Abdullah ibn Zubair who saw a man raising his hands in Salaah before finishing his Salaah, then when he finished praying he said â∏ The Messenger of Allah did not used toâ∏ ¦â∏ Shaikh AlAlbaani declared it weak in Ad Dhaâ∏ eefah 2544 due to the presence of Fudhail Ibn Sulaimaan An Numairi who the majority of he Imaams of hadeeth declare a weak narrator)
25. The Messenger raised his hands after giving salaam (from Salaah) and while (still) facing the qibla and made dua that Allah frees Waleed Ibnil Waleed, \hat{a}_{\square} Iyaash ibn abi Rabee \hat{a}_{\square} ah, Salamah Ibn Hishaam and the (other) weak defenseless muslims from the Mushrikeen. Those who are unable to devise a plot or direct their way, from the hands of the mushrikeen
Ruling: Munkar
(Collected by Bazaar (3172) Shaikh Al Albaani after mentioning the hadeeth in â∏ Ad Dhaâ∏ eefah and discusses the presence of the weak narrator Ali Ibn Zaid ibn Judâ∏ aan in its chain then he mentions:
\hat{a}_{\square} The conclusive statement then is that nothing is established upon the messenger \hat{a}_{\square} Sallallahu Alahi was sallam \hat{a}_{\square} regarding him raising his hands after Salaah. As far as the affair of the Imaam making Du \hat{a}_{\square} a and those behind him saying ameen! after the prayer as is customary practice today in many Islamic countries then it is a bidâ∏ ah (innovation) having no originâ∏ (See â∏ Ad Dhaâ∏ eefah 6/57-60)
